Reflecting on Our Faith Community

Let us all reflect on All Faiths. A spiritual home and neutral space where we may express our many shades of life without fear. This is something to cherish and sustain as our country becomes more divided. It is in these times that we must hold our home sacred. This can only be done with unity.

We all have great power to bring life and understanding to the surrounding community: be it with a simple hug, a volunteering hand, or providing the financial stability necessary for surviving in a country whose values keep us from mutual aid and uniting as one. Each of us is an essential part of a body called All Faiths. A body cannot live without its many parts working together. If one organ refuses to help another, then the body becomes sick.

What a great privilege it is to have enough spiritually or monetarily to give and infuse our spiritual home with life and energy. What a great privilege it is to be able to give to a organization that strives to fight for the mutual understanding necessary for us to transcend so much of the unnecessary suffering of life.

We Will Go Forward Together

This has been a trying year for All Faiths. Recovery from Hurricane Ian and other weather-related events has been very difficult and has left many of us feeling hurt, rejected and burdened. Remember, you are not alone, we are together, and we will go forward together.

All Faiths has lost many members since the pandemic and Hurricane Ian leading to the loss of many dependable financial resources occurred in this year. Yet we must, and we will, move forward together.

Together we must uplift All Faiths, where love is at the center of our values and principles. Here, we worship and build relationships. We keep All Faiths strong.

Where your pledge money goes?

The majority of All Faiths' budget is for staff salaries, benefits, workers compensation, and payroll fees ($168,288). Other major expense categories are building expenses, insurance, capital reserves, utilities, lawncare, repairs, and janitorial supplies. Besides these essential items, your generosity supports the day-to-day operations and social outreach of the Congregation. The capital reserve fund finances our anticipated future capital expenditures.
